Tribute from Helen Evans

So sorry, John, to read of Elly's death. Such a shock to me, and a difficult time for you. It's not easy losing one's spouse, friend and soulmate at one fell sweep. I have gone through it, so I sympathize with you at this dramatic change in your life. My thoughts and prayers are with you and your family

Relation: Friend

Dear John, Debbie, Don and family;

I was so sorry to hear of Elly's battle with cancer. I do hope she didn't suffer much pain. Her passing will be a great loss for all of you and her many friends.

Elly was a true friend and I treasure all the memories of our time spent together. Leaving our friendship, when I moved from Powell River, was harder than leaving my marriage.

I'll never forget the smell of bread baking, needles clicking, her paceman diet and her wonderful laughter. Her stories of coming to Canada and making friends by amazing them with her skill at juggling. But the best stories were when she spoke of her family. Her face would light up, the pride and love would shine through and we'd drink another coffee.

Till we meet again my friend.
