Jacqueline Joy Speckling-Boonstra

(December 31, 1965 - July 15, 2018)

passed into glory on the Lord's Day after a short and courageous battle with cancer. Jacquie was a caring and generous individual who typically thought more of others than of herself. Family and friends meant everything to her. She enjoyed life to its fullest. Her smile was contagious. Though her life was cut short, and though she travelled through her darkest valley, she rarely complained. Jacquie knew that God's goodness and mercy followed her all the days of her life, and she believed that she would dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

Jacquie is survived and will be deeply missed by her loving husband, Leonardus Speckling, her parents John & Carolyn, her siblings Pat, John, Deb, Pete & Dan, as well as in-laws, nephews, nieces and countless friends.
